Portland, Oregon graphic designer has just been recently recognized for her work in an international design competition.

Graphic designer, Laurie Ryan-Day, is the principal of her firm, Ryan Graphics, and the Portfolios.com International Awards Show has just recently recognized her work. She received an award in the logo design competition. The logo was designed for "Set-to-Sell", a local home presentation specialist based in Vancouver, WA.

Laurie has been providing her services to small & medium-sized business for approximately 5 years. This is the first time she has submitted any work samples to be judged at a competition. The odds of winning an award the first time a designer submits work is quite impressive. She hopes to remain on a winning streak and brings uniqueness and originality to each and every piece.
